

First Diploma Presented

Dr. Max R. Clark, superintendent of the Area 1 Vocational-Technical school, presents the school's first diploma to Gary Allen of Fredericksburg who completed the vocational farm management program. Observing the presentation is Ronald Anderson (left), director of the Vocational-Technical Education program. There were 156 students in the first class at the vocational-technical school. Diplomas were given to 123 students upon satisfactory completion of their program, and certificates were awarded to 13 of the students who missed a portion of their program. Group recognition was awarded to 15 practical nurses, because they will not be formally finished with their program until July 31.

Several Wartburg Faculty Members Are Promoted

WARTBURG — Faculty promotions and awards have been announced at Wartburg College including the granting of Emeriti status to four retiring teachers.

The announcement followed action by Wartburg's Board of Regents at its annual spring meeting.

Retirees honored included: Dr. Edwin Liemohn, who was named professor emeritus of music theory; Miss Perna Lohn, associate professor emerita of library science; Dr. A. W. Swensen, professor emeritus of chemistry; and Miss Helen Wright, assistant professor, emerita of art.

Waverly Offers Housing Tract To Developers

WARTBURG — The Waverly City Council has agreed to offer the property north of the Methodist Church to private developers for $50,000 instead of directly to the government.

The property will be used for low cost housing for the elderly.

In other business, the council voted to accept sealed bids at the city clerk's office until 5:00 p.m. June 17 for four houses to be moved to make room for a new city parking lot. The houses are located at 116, 118, and 122 Third St. S. E., and 215 First Ave. S. E., in the city of Waverly.

The council also authorized the mayor and city clerk to sign a resolution to sell three water cooling radiators from the old light plant to the city of Ogden for $4,440 each.

Miss Lohn for 25 years at Wartburg and to Earnest F. Oppermann, Dean of Students, for 20 years. Mrs. Grace Bodecker, Secretary to president John W. Bachman was named administrative assistant to the president.

La Porte City Child Hit By Car, Injured

LA PORTE CITY — A La Porte City boy, walking home from kindergarten on the last day of school, was injured Wednesday when struck by a car.

James Mau, 5, son of Dr. and Mrs. J. A. Mau, received a broken arm and a ruptured spleen when he was hit by a car driven by Mrs. Ernest Lassen of Dy-sart.

According to investigating officers, the boy was walking along Hwy. 218 at the south edge of La Porte City. Mrs. Lassen said he darted in front of her car and that she was unable to stop her car in time to avoid hitting him.

The boy was taken to Scholz Memorial Hospital in Waterloo by the Fire Department emergency vehicle. After undergoing surgery, he was reported in "fairly good condition."

Rev. Stangle, 98, Dies; Rites Are To Be Saturday

TOLEDO — Funeral services for the Rev. Luther A. Stangle, 98, who died Wednesday in a Tama nursing home, will be held Saturday at 2 p. m. in the Otterbein United Methodist Church in Toledo, formerly the E. U. B. church.

Burial will be in Woodlawn Cemetery with Masonic rites by the Toledo Lodge.

Henderson Funeral Home is in charge of arrangements.

Rev. Stangle was a native of Indiana and was ordained a E. U. B. minister in 1897 when he began his ministry in LaGrange, Ind.

He served pastorates in Indiana and Pennsylvania before coming to Iowa in 1929. In Iowa, he served churches in the southeast and central portions of the state before retiring in 1948 and making his home here.

He is survived by three sons, D. W. of Elkhart, Ind., Kenneth of Rollersville, Md., and Howard of New York City; a stepson, the Rev. I. C. Fellers, Isle St. George, Ohio; a step-daughter, Mrs. Elmer Clemens of Port Clinton, Ohio; and one brother, William Stangle, Rushville, Ind. Two wives preceded him in death.

Job Corps Youths Aid Storm Area

CHARLES CITY — Job Corps enrollees will leave here Saturday morning with a contribution of 600 man-days of volunteer clean-up work in the tornado disaster area.

The figure is in addition to the assistance given in the Oelwein area by two Wisconsin centers.

The 82 Corpsmen, from Job Corps Civilian Conservation centers at Poplarbluff, Mo., and Obijway, Mich., and eight staff members have been assisting mainly in residential clean-up activities. Their work has been coordinated with city officials by Jack Matthews and Olin Matter, field representatives from Kansas City regional office. Matthews also supervised the Job Corpsmen in the Belmont tornado disaster two years ago.

Trucks, power hand saws and other hand tools were brought from the Centers by the Job Corps. At the height of their work, the Corpsmen were utilizing 20 trucks — including trucks and drivers donated by firms and other municipalities — per day in removing debris.

The Corpsmen also assisted in tree trimming and removal.

In their clean-up Corpsmen found a complete silverware set and $15 in money and were able to return it to the owners.

The Corpsmen were housed in the National Guard Armory and were fed, with other volunteer workers, at the damaged St. John's Lutheran Church.

Sylvio Leonardi, work leader from Poplar Bluff, has participated with Corpsmen in five tornado disasters in Iowa, Kansas and Missouri.

Farm Bureau Urges Studies On Bargaining

DES MOINES (AP) — A resolution calling for an immediate study of the possibility of setting up marketing and bargaining programs for major commodities like corn, hogs and cattle was adopted Wednesday at the Iowa Farm Bureau's mid-year conference here.

The national Farm Bureau has set up bargaining associations for minor vegetable and fruit crops, but has not developed bargaining programs for major farm products.

The resolution called for the Iowa Farm Bureau to launch a farm marketing and bargaining study "with the full intent of developing a program within a year."

It also calls for the state Farm Bureau to become a member of the American Agricultural Marketing Association (AAMA), which is bargaining and marketing affiliate of the American Farm Bureau Federation.

The AAMA has organized producers, of special commodities, such as tomatoes, apples, asparagus and celery, into marketing organizations.
